
CONFERENCE INVITATION IN MATHEMATICS EDUCATION,

WEDNESDAY 19 DECEMBER AT 15:30.

The Mathematics Department Director, Rafael Labarca and the Director of Felix Klein Center, Lorena Espinoza invite all professors, students and researchers from the Department of Mathematics and Computer Science and from the Department of Physics are invited to the lecture given by Professor PhD. Masami Isoda entitled "Mathematical Thinking: How to develop it in the classroom".

Masami Isoda is a professor in Mathematics Education at the University of Tsukuba, Japan. He has been a co-project overseer (representative) of APEC Lesson Study Project (since 2006) and working internationally and nationally for innovation of mathematics education. His contributions has earned him the following awards: Honorary Professor by USIL, Peru (2014)., Honorary PhD by KKU, Thailand (2011). Actually, PhD Isoda is the Director of Center for Research on International Cooperation in Educational Development (CRICED).

The conference will done in the meeting room of the Mathematics Department of Universidad de Santiago de Chile, 6th floor, at 3:30 p.m.